

Bottled Carafe, inspired by the beautiful glass bottles of medieval times.
Design: Kiki van Eijk, www.kikiworld.nl

(Below, both images) Water garden, this work, which takes an appearance of a flower garden, is a tap in a public place. The tap is composed of an elastic stem along with flowers with various interfaces, and so it has diverse fabricating methods of compounding
Design: Myoung Kim / BooYoung Park, www.odcd.org

Sputnik, glass and carafe in heat-resistant mouth-blown glass
Design: Guillaume Bardet
www.ligne-roset.com

Maum, tea bag set
Design: Wdaru
www.wdaru.com

Bamboooasis, is a form that helps to use the handle of the tap cleanly. The handle that used to have the function of on and off now takes the role of a passageway, where water flows.
Design: JiHy Kim / KeunTae Kim
www.odcd.org

Below Captap, making the cap of the PET bottle a tap.
Design: Mana Kishida / Mai Hattori, www.odcd.org

Ilia, laquered layered oak chair
Design: François Champsaur
s.lassialle@hugueschevalier.com
Photo: Jean-Marc Palisse

Hallway Chair 403
Design: design Alvar Aalto
www.artek.fi

Bus stop, Greece

Relax Chair
Design: Sander Bokkinga
www.sanderbokkinga.nl

Tulipani
Design: Roderick Vos
www.linteloo.nl

Chair, Piraeus (GR)

Maarten Baas' installation in a car garage, Milan
Photo: Siegrid Demyttenaere

